FOWLER WAS NOT NEGLIGENT.

The Herald has not taken an active part in the present senatorial race. Its friends know why. Yet it believes in fair play. Capt. Fowler served this county as its representative in the Texas legislature, and did good service. It is being told on him by some, in order to take votes from him, that he was negligent in his duties; that the Journal shows he was absent a great number of times on roll call. He may have been absent at roll call, but he was not negligent in the business for which he was sent to the legislature. This his friends will never believe, for Fowler is not that kind of man. He was an active member of the legislature, and served on some special committees; and the work of these committees absented him from the hall. He was busy; you can count on that, and was not wasting his time on pleasure, etc. Fowler is a man who practically takes no recreation, except to change from one kind of work to another, and he is a man of great activity and energy. He will do what he considers is right, regardless of the consequences; and this is to be admired.

Fact is, the Herald claims this very privilege itself, and because it does not believe politically about some things as Fowler believes, and because it knows Fowler is a man who stands by his convictions, and will do what he considers is the right thing to do, and because some things he would under conviction do that the Herald does not stand for, the Herald is not active in presenting his candidacy, even though he is a home man and a friend of the Herald men. And Fowler knows this, and respects the Herald men for it.

WHY SHOULDN'T HE PROSPER?

In these days of high prices, when the town man is hard put to make his salary stretch around to the daily needs, the question naturally presents itself, why shouldn't the farmer prosper under present conditions? And, indeed, why shouldn't he? His lands cost him no more than under the old cheap prices, his time put in on the farm is of the same value, and he was enabled to make a living when cotton was selling at five cents, and meat was bringing from three to four cents on the hoof. Under practically the same conditions the man who cultivates his own fields with the help of his family is getting from two to three times the price for his products. Fortunately, he does not have to buy very much from the stores, or at least he should buy but little, and assuredly the big profits should be his. In other words, if he could make a living under the former low prices, why should he not make a surplus under the present prices? Everything produced on the farm today is commanding a fancy price. Butter, eggs, fowls, cotton, grain, everything is in demand. Why is the farmer not the chosen man today?

The people of Palestine have never failed to go down in their pockets and subscribe a bonus to a new railroad proposition. The money has not been subscribed in stock, but given as a direct bonus, with no strings to it. This is true, and yet every man in Palestine who has thought over the proposition knows that five hundred new people in the county cultivating the idle lands would be worth more than a new railroad, and yet not a dollar seems to be forthcoming to promote a colonization plan. A stock company could be formed with $25,000 or $50,000 and open up lands to settlers and made to pay a dividend in five or ten years, and at the same time build up the city and county. This is a good, clean business proposition that needs some ready money at its head. As an investment it would beat an oil well proposition a city block.

A local cotton man enters an emphatic denial that other towns are paying more for cotton than Palestine, and he says a comparison of the prices will prove the truth of his statement. This is an important matter, and the Herald will do all in its power to correct any erroneous impressions that may prevail as to the condition.

Mayor Callaghan of San Antonio, in Austin a few days ago, said San Antonio was a good, law-abiding town, and that all the reports about violations of the law were the result of too much yellow journalism. We fear the mayor has not arrived at a very clear conception of just what a good town is. He needs to read up.

While it is necessary that a newspaper be fearless in printing the news and in commenting on current events, there is still no excuse for the yellow journal. An unfair newspaper is a dangerous element in the make-up of any community. Misrepresentation should be far removed from any paper.

Anderson county could support two or three first-class canning factories. These industries are made to pay in other East Texas counties. With good canning factories at our doors the truck and fruit crops of the county would be doubled in no time.

A steamship left Galveston a few days ago for another Texas port further south loaded with a cargo of Baltimore canned goods. And Texas produces one of the greatest fruit and vegetable crops in the world.

We float without pause from the season of strawberries and peaches and cream into the luxuries of the pumpkin, and potatoes and pork, and fresh country sausage. Surely, there is joy in living.

The governor down at Austin lost his hat through the carelessness of a caller. But it has never been charged that the governor has lost his head, and that is worth remembering.

In every business transaction the future is to be considered as well as the present. It is a short-sighted policy that loses sight of this fact.

TOWNSEND'S POSITION

Stated in Answer to Proposition Submitted By Fowler.

Groveton, Texas, Sept. 25.—W. J. Townsend, Jr., of Lufkin, candidate for the state senate in this district, is in Groveton today in the interest of his candidacy, and in conversation with a newspaper correspondent had his attention called to the printed endorsement of Hon. J. W. Madden of Crockett of the candidacy of Hon. G. R. Fowler of Anderson county.

In this connection Mr. Townsend called attention to the following exchange of correspondence, consisting of a telegram by Mr. Fowler to himself and his reply by letter, which are self-explanatory and the publication of which he authorized and is as follows: Judge W. J. Townsend, Jr., Jacksonville, Texas.

Palestine, Texas, Sept. 5.—Repeating message sent to Lufkin, if you base your objection to my candidacy on my being from Anderson county, I will agree to withdraw, if you will do the same in favor of Mr. Wilson, who I believe will be acceptable to the entire district and whose county is entitled to vacancy if any county is. Answer.

G. R. Fowler.

(ANSWER.)

Mr. G. R. Fowler, Palestine, Texas. Alto, Texas, Sept. 7.—Dear Sir: Replying to your telegram of date yesterday, will state that this senatorial district has been created for eighteen years, during which time Cherokee county has furnished the senator for eight years, Anderson county four years and Houston county six years. Angelina county was organized in 1846, long before the civil war, and has never had a state senator, so the oldest settlers tell me, and as between the three candidates above named, I believe that Angelina county is entitled to representation at this time.

I have no personal objection to Hon. J. W. Madden of Crockett, who is suggested by you, as I believe him to be a good man, and if elected, no doubt would make a capable senator, but for the reasons here stated and for the additional reason that I do not believe that it would be proper for you and I alone to select the senator for the district, but leave that alone for the people to determine, I would not withdraw in this race in the behalf of any one.

I have no hostility toward Anderson county or her people, but I do believe that Angelina county has the better claims upon the senatorship this time.

As to your withdrawing from this race, I leave that matter entirely to your own good judgment. Yours very truly,

W. J. Townsend, Jr.

Little Walter was always carefully guarded against germs. The telephone was sprayed, the drinking utensils sterilized, and public conveyances and places were forbidden him. "Father," he said one night, in a tone of desperation, "do you know what I am going to do when I grow up?"

"What?" asked his father, preparing himself for the worst.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

The democratic party in Delaware is divided over the liquor issue.

The republican state campaign in Minnesota will be opened at Mankota October 4.

Florida will vote in November on a constitutional amendment providing for statewide prohibition.

George M. Hanson, who is a candidate for the seat of Senator Frye of Maine, is supreme chancellor of the supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias.

The republicans of the Sixth Alabama district have nominated A. D. Mitchell, a farmer, for congress to oppose Capt. Richmond P. Hobson, the democratic incumbent.

Seth McCallen ("Dick Maple") socialist nominee for governor of Tennessee, has announced his withdrawal from the race on account of ill health.

The National Republican League will hold a convention in New York City, September 30 and October 1, with a banquet which will be attended by President Taft.

Missouri enjoys the rather unusual distinction of possessing three presidential possibilities within the democratic ranks: Joseph W. Folk, David R. Francis and Champ Clark.

Obadiah Gardner of Rockland, Me., democratic nominee for governor two years ago, and who was defeated for a second nomination this year by Governor-elect Plaisted, has announced himself as a candidate for United States senator.

Behind the nomination of Dr. Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton University, as the democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey, is said to be a plan of certain leaders to control the democratic party and to run Dr. Wilson for president in 1912.

It is an interesting fact that Theodore Roosevelt is the only president within the last twenty-five years who had no part in a tariff bill. Cleveland had to deal with the Mills bill, Harrison the McKinley bill, Cleveland, in his second administration, the Wilson bill, McKinley the Dingley bill, and Taft the Payne-Aldrich bill.

Judge Simeon E. Baldwin of New Haven, the democratic candidate for governor of Connecticut, is best known as a former president of the American Bar Association. He attended both Harvard and Yale law schools, and has been for many years a member of the faculty of the latter. He has written much on legal topics.

Former United States Senator Joseph M. Carey, father of the so-called Carey enlarged homestead act, is an independent candidate for governor of Wyoming, declaring himself in opposition to the "bosses" of both parties. Mr. Carey's platform advocates the direct primary law, a corrupt practice act and the election of United States senators direct.

Congressman Miles Poindexter, whose nomination for United States senator is considered a signal victory for the insurgent republicans of the state of Washington, has long been one of the leading insurgents in the lower house of congress. Mr. Poindexter was born in Memphis, Tenn., in 1868, and is a graduate of Washington and Lee University.

Dr. Woodrow Wilson, who has been nominated for governor of New Jersey by the democrats and who is now mentioned as a presidential possibility in 1912, has never held any political office. He has been president of Princeton University since 1902 and is known nationally as a specialist on political science. Dr. Wilson was born in Staunton, Va., fifty-four years ago.

Shriners Plan to Use "Devil's Slide" For Initiation

"Devil's Slide" is known to every traveler who has journeyed over the Union Pacific railroad in the state of Utah, and now the Shriners announce that they will initiate a large class of candidates in Weber canyon, using the "slide" as a part of their paraphernalia. The "slide" is about 300 feet long, lying at an angle of about 90 degrees, with a shallow stream of water at the lower end, while near the top of the mountain which hems in Weber canyon will be found the commencement of the freak of nature. The formation of the ledges forming the two sides of the "slide" is most peculiar. While other rocks and boulders in that section of the state lie in a general parallel manner with the surface of the ground, these project directly through the soil to heights varying from one to ten or more feet from the grass tops. Between the two rows of rocks or ledges there is a comparatively smooth bed much lighter in color than the sides, thus giving the impression that the "slide" is the most appropriate. Just how the Shriners propose to use this much advertised canyon for initiation ceremonies is unknown, but it is a more unique place could not be selected.

After Sept. 15 my shop will be located at 710 Spring street, opposite the Moore Wholesale Grocery store, in the Grainger building. There I will be better than ever prepared for automobile work and all other repairing, etc. C. A. Pryor.
